

SCHOOL ADMISSION

The State of Mississippi provides for a uniform system of free and public school for students who meet compulsory school age requirements. It is the intent that every child who is at compulsory school age attend school for a period of instruction sufficient to train the student in educational skills adequate to prepare him/her to take one's place in society and make a contribution as a citizen of this state. All children should be encouraged to continue their education until they have completed high school.
